Investment Philosophy - Avoid the Human Factor

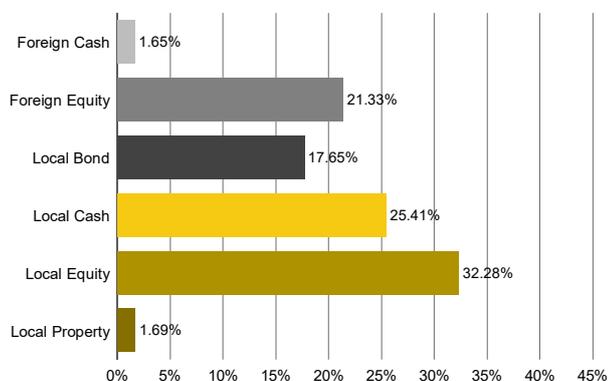

The G&L SNN Balanced Fund of Fund is designed around a unique and proprietary methodology developed by New Age Alpha (LCC) that measures investor behaviour risk, called the Human Factor. The Human Factor is the risk that investors have pushed the stock price too high and out of line with management's ability to deliver the performance to support that stock price.

Assessing management's ability to deliver performance to support the price of the stock is critical because it balances the stock price (which is based on investors' biases) and the company's results. If management fails to deliver such results the stock price will drop, and investors will lose money. Investor loss is strongly related to management failing to deliver the results the stock price implies. There is no benefit of exposure to Human Factor Risk, only cost. This Human Factor Risk is the risk of losing for which investors are not paid for taking.

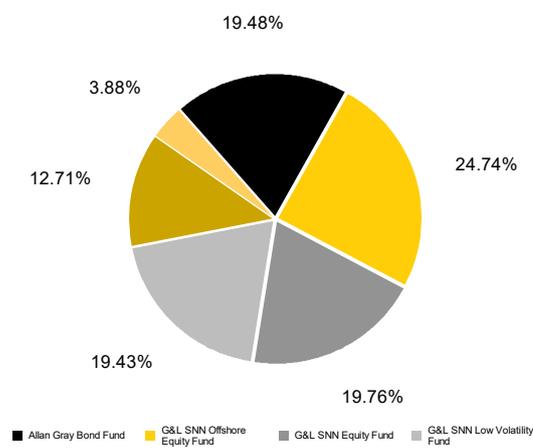

By avoiding this Human Factor risk, the G&L SNN Balanced Fund of Fund both reduces risk and outperforms. Using both company fundamentals and stock price - both unambiguous pieces of information - allows us to repeatedly and consistently identify stocks likely to underperform. Alpha at that point is as simple as eliminating those high Human-Factor shares from our portfolios.

The fund uses state of the art software developed by SalientQuants (Pty) Ltd for asset allocation. With the software, the fund explicitly measures and controls risk level and exposures allowing risk budgetting to be implemented in portfolio construction. The fund efficiently allocates the risk and optimally diversifies the allocation to underlying funds. This risk budgetting methodology allocates risk to underlying funds and not simply Rands.

The risk-reward profile is based on historical data and may not be a reliable indication of the future risk profile of the portfolio. The risk category shown is not guaranteed and may change over time. The lowest category does not mean the investment is risk free. There may be other special areas of risk relating to the investment including: market risk, liquidity risk and risks

Fund Risk

Volatility Risk:	Volatility refers to uncertainty and risk related to size of change of an instrument or portfolio. It is a statistical measure of the dispersion of returns for a given security or market index. Volatility is proportional to the directional exposure of a portfolio and is measured by Value at risk (VaR) which is a statistical technique used to measure and quantify the level of volatility.
Concentration and Sector Risk:	A large proportion of total assets invested in specific assets, sectors or regions. Concentrated positions or concentrated sectors in a portfolio will material impact the returns of the portfolio more so than diversified portfolios.
Equity Risk:	Applies to investment in shares or derivatives based on shares. The market price of shares varies depending on supply and demand of the shares. Equity risk is the risk of loss due to the drop in the market price of shares. Equity risk can either be systematic risk which is risk to the entire market based on political and economic indicators or unsystematic risk which is company specific and includes risk relating to company profits, future prospects and general consensus on the company or sector.

Total Investment Charges (TIC%)	= TER (%) + TC (%): The Total Investment Charges (TIC), the TER + the TC, is the percentage of the net asset value of the class of the Financial Product incurred as costs relating to the investment of the Financial Product. It should be noted that a TIC is the sum of two calculated ratios (TER+TC).

A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER may not necessarily be an accurate indication of future TER's. Transaction Costs are a necessary cost in administering the financial product and impacts financial product returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of financial product, the investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER.
